Martiza: The Little Witch Who Wanted to Be a Fairy

By Valério Kelles

In the highlands of Nithus, beyond the Quieзад Mountains, behind the Forest of Longing, live the characters of this story.

A story that shows us that not everything is truly what it seems.

Floresta da
Saudade

Martiza was a witch, a little witch who was always sad and lonely because she did not enjoy the company of the other witches, who were very mean.

Martiza liked to sit quietly and watch the wind blow through the treetops, sending leaves and flowers drifting down. She loved watching butterflies fly, listening to the crickets and cicadas, and breathing in the scent of wet earth after the rain.
